

Give yourself time, You may think that the sadness and pain you feel will never go away, but in most cases, grief lessen over time,
 Remember the happy moments and memories of time spent with the family member
 Turn to your community, or spiritual leader, They are skilled at helping people manage grief and loss and can help you through
 Focus on activities that also make you feel good this time